

Daniel M. Ndolo

Alternate Director (to CS/NT&P), KMA

Current Position: Director, Debt Policy, Strategy and Risk Management, The National Treasury, Republic of Kenya

ACADEMIC QUALIFICATIONS

Master's in Economics, -specializing in macroeconomic policy analysis and development, Williams College, Massachusetts, USA.

BA (Economics) Hons, University of Nairobi.

COMPETENCIES

Mr. Daniel Ndolo has over 20 years working experience capital market operations; debt market development, securities exchange governance; debt issuance strategies, securities pricing; investment appraisal; fixed income securities analysis; financial risk analysis; structured finance and project financing; project monitoring and evaluation; coordination of program implementation (results-based management approach); trade policy welfare distribution analysis; macroeconomic policy advisory; macroeconomic policy research and evaluation; coaching and mentoring; policy communication, media relations, stakeholders engagement, strategic planning; development policy planning and coordination; development policy research and evaluation; and data analysis; debt markets development and regulations.

He previously worked as senior technical Advisor to the Chief Executive of the Capital Markets Authority (Kenya) before becoming Head of Financial Markets Intelligence at the Central Bank of Kenya. He previously worked as Personal Assistant to two Principal Secretaries (during different periods) in the National Treasury.

In his early career days he worked in foreign resource mobilization in the National Treasury.

He has experience in advising senior public sector officials on financial matters, development policy, and financial markets development.

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

Certificate in Training of Trainers, Eastern and Southern Africa Management Institute (ESAMI)

Risk Certification Program, (Global Association of Risk Professionals).

This international certification program focuses on identification, measurement and management of credit risks, operational risks, market risks, business risks in banking services, among other types of risks.

Program on Investment Appraisal and Management, Harvard University, USA.

Other areas of training include:

- Economic Policy Modeling and Forecasting,
- Monetary and Exchange Rate Policies,`
- Monitoring and Evaluation,
- Banking Risks & Its Management and Financial Sector Stability,
- Monetary and Financial Statistics,
- Economic Modeling for Policy analysis and Forecasting,
- Economic and Financial Programming and Policy;

Head, Financial Markets Analysis/ Head, Financial Market Intelligence, and Head of Secretariat to the Market Leaders' Forum, Financial Markets Department, Central Bank of Kenya

Manager, Financial Sector Stability Division, Research and Policy Analysis Department, Central Bank. Duties included: Financial Markets surveillance, and financial sector stability analysis, documentation and reporting. In addition, was member of the Editorial Board of the Central Bank Newsletter

Senior Advisor to the Chief Executive, and Head of the Programs Coordination Secretariat Capital Markets Authority, Kenya.

Personal Assistant/Economist to the Permanent Secretary/National Treasury.

PUBLICATIONS

Ndolo, D. M. 2001. Financing Fiscal Deficits in Kenya through Domestic Borrowing: Risks and Options, Williams College, MA., USA

INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL AND EXPOSURE

Has had extensive travel in Africa, the Americas, Asia and Europe and experienced different cultures over the last 25 years.