

KMA STAFF EXCEL IN AUSTRALIAN MARITIME COLLEGE

Christine Chongwo, KMA staff in the maritime safety department, was awarded the Captain Thomas Swanson Prize for being the most outstanding graduate in an ocean seafarer program in the National Centre for Ports and Shipping at the Australian Maritime College (AMC)- University of Tasmania.

Christine was applauded during the Australian Maritime College (AMC) recognition of the achievements of its best and brightest graduates at a presentation for the college's top academic and research awards for 2017.

The AMC Interim Principal Nataliya Nikolova commended the students on their outstanding achievements and wished them all the best for their future endeavours.

“Congratulations to all of our award recipients, you should be very proud of your achievements here at AMC and we look forward to seeing your contributions to the maritime industry as you carve out your future careers,” she said.

Christine graduated with a Bachelor of Applied Science in Marine Engineering and a Certificate of Competence (Motor) from the Australian Maritime Safety Authority. Michael Kyalo, Another KMA staff from the Maritime Safety department was previously awarded the 2014 Worcester Memorial Award for excellence in Phase one of the Bachelor of Applied Science in Marine Engineering and the 2015 Australian Maritime College (AMC) Principal's Roll of Excellence.

Christine Chongwo (left,) KMA staff in the maritime safety department, awarded the Captain Thomas Swanson Prize for being the most outstanding graduate in an ocean seafarer program in the National Centre for Ports and Shipping at the Australian Maritime College (AMC) poses for a photo with the college's Interim Principal Nataliya Nikolova.